JONES on the Process employed by Nature in suppressing the Hemorrhage from Divided and Punctured Arteries; and on the use of the Ligature. With Observations on Secondary Hemorrhage: the whole deduced from an extensive series of Experiments, and illustrated by fifteen plates. 8vo, price 2 dolls. 25 cts. in boards.

Extract from the Monthly Review, April 1807.

“We consider Dr. Jones’s treatise as a valuable addition to the knowledge both of the physiologist and the surgeon. It admirably illustrates the natural powers of the animal fabric, and the methods which the system employs to repair some of the most serious injuries that it can sustain:—it clearly points out the change which the vessels experience when wounded or divided;—and it thus enables the practitioner to employ his skill in seconding the efforts of nature. He will thus also be prevented from exclusively directing his attention to one part only of the operation; or as has been not unfrequently the case, in endeavouring to produce an effect directly the reverse of that which he ought to have made it his aim to accomplish.”

In Press.

WISTAR’S SYSTEM OF ANATOMY, for the use of Students in Medicine. To be completed in two volumes octavo.

ENCYCLOPÆDIA, or a Dictionary of Arts, Sciences, and Miscellaneous Literature, on a Plan entirely New, by which the different Sciences and Arts are digested into the Form of Distinct Treatises or Systems: comprehending the History, Theory, and Practice of each according to the latest Discoveries and Improvements: and full Explanations given of the Various Detached Parts of Knowledge, whether relating to Natural and Artificial Objects, or to Matters Ecclesiastical, Civil, Military, Commercial, &c; including Elucidations of the most important Topics relative to Religion, Morals, Manners, and the Economy of Life: together with a Description of all the Countries, Cities, principal Mountains, Seas, Rivers, &c. throughout the World; a General History, Ancient and Modern, of the different Empires, Kingdoms, and States; and an account of the Lives of the most Eminent Persons, in every Nation, from the earliest ages down to the present times. Compiled from the Writings of the best Authors, in several Languages; the most approved Dictionaries, as well of General Science as of Particular Branches; the Transactions, Journals, and Memoirs, of learned Societies, both at home and abroad; the MS. Lectures of eminent Professors on different Sciences; and a variety of original Materials, furnished by an extensive correspondence. The whole (including the Supplement,) complete in twenty-one large quarto volumes; illustrated with five hundred and ninety-five Copperplates, which bear honorable testimony to the state of the Arts in the United States during the progress of the work.

The judicious plan of this work, taken from the Encyclopædia Britannica of Edinburgh, is so decidedly superior to that of any other work of the kind published or now publishing, that none of them will bear the comparison, as might be abundantly shown, by comparing it with even the best of them, were this the place for it.

The work is offered for sale, the whole twenty-one volumes, in boards, at Dollars, 105
